

ABSTRACT

An apparatus and method for providing simultaneous access to data on a mainframe computer. The apparatus includes an emulation, which contains the data, appears to a mainframe computing system as a peripheral device.

- 5 The peripheral provides access to the data to a plurality of requesters simultaneously through the creation of unique nominal IDs for each request.

4004578-120704